

A wide awake minister, who found his congregation going to sleep one Sunday before he had fairly commenced, suddenly stopped, and exclaimed, "Brethren, this isn't fair; it isn't giving a man half a chance. Wait till I get along a pice, and then if I don't worth listening to, go to sleep; but don't before I get commenced, give a man a chance."

BURNING OF THE MUSEUM

LETTER FROM MR. BARNUM.

New York, July 14, 1865.

My dear H. — Through the destruction of the American Museum, I am happy to carry the old adage that "It's all well that blows wind enough," and consequently, congratulate you that your well-known sales have again demonstrated their superior fire-proof qualities, and durability.

The sale you made for me some time ago, is still in the office of the Museum, on the second floor, back part of the building, and in the hottest of the fire.

After twenty-four hours of trial, it was found among the articles of open property, that the glass vessels yielded up its contents in every kind and shape, but the plates, glasses, &c., &c., all in immediate use, and a noble commentary on the trustworthiness of Herring's Fire Proof Safes.

Truly yours,

P. T. BARNUM.
